The remote e-voting period commences on Friday, 19th September 2025 (9.00 a.m. IST) and ends on Sunday, 21st September 2025 (5.00 p.m. IST). During this period shareholders of the Company, holding shares either in physical form or in dematerialized form, as on the cut-off date 15th September, 2025 may cast their vote electronically.

Shareholders who have already voted prior to the meeting date would not be entitled to vote at the meeting venue.

Pursuant to SEBI Circular No. SEBI/HO/CFD/CMD/CIR/P/2020/242 dated 09.12.2020, under Regulation 44 of Securities and Exchange Board of India (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015, listed entities are required to provide remote e-voting facility to its shareholders, in respect of all shareholders' resolutions. MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

a) Industry Structure And Developments and Outlook

The global economy grew by 3.3% in CY 2024 amidst several challenges such as imposition of tariffs and geopolitical conflicts which heightened uncertainty. Emerging and developing economies provided strong support in this regard by registering growth of 4.3% while advanced economies experienced noticeably muted growth of 1.8% even as inflation eased. Global headline inflation dropped from 6.7% in CY 2023 to 5.8% in CY 2024, with falling energy costs being the primary factor. Some developing countries, however, faced sticky inflation on account of currency depreciation and supply chain disruptions. With advanced economies moving closer to target inflation rates, many Central Banks started gradually reducing interest rates in order to support growth. With the manufacturing sector in general holding up, the metals and mining sector played a crucial role in the global economic landscape. Stainless Steel demand remained positive, especially in emerging economies, driven by urbanization and infrastructure development. The Asia-Pacific Region continued to play a central role in the global economy contributing approximately 60% of global growth in CY 2024. The region recorded a GDP growth of 5%, outpacing many other parts of the world, due to strong export activity and steady recovery across several economies. Countries in East Asia – including China, Japan, South Korea and Taiwan saw stronger trade activity driven by investments in semiconductors and green manufacturing along with a 70 bps reduction in inflation to 2.6% in CY 2024.

India remained one of the strongest performing major economies in FY 2024-25 with an estimated GDP growth of 6.5%. The country's economic expansion was driven by robust growth in private consumption and strong export performance. Higher rural consumption, resulting from improved agriculture output, pushed private consumption growth to 7.6% and contributed 4.3% to overall GDP growth. The government's continued investment in infrastructure, logistics, and digital access has played a key role in supporting economic stability. For FY 2024-25, the government allocated INR 11.11 Lakh Crore towards capital expenditure, accounting for around 3.4% of the country's GDP. Retail headline inflation eased to 4.6% in FY 2024-25, down from 5.4% in FY 2023-24, and aided rebound in consumption. However, the recent tariffs imposed by the United States are likely to push global inflation higher due to supply chain disruptions. In response, India is carefully monitoring global trade developments and planning a measured response. Looking ahead, India's GDP is expected to grow by 6.5% in FY 2025-26 and FY 2026-27, supported by conducive monetary and fiscal policy, rising rural incomes, and moderating inflation. Moreover, strong growth in GST collections points to the strength and resilience of the Indian economy, which will further get a boost as global uncertainties ease.

Stainless Steel production increased by 7% in CY 2024 over the previous year, reaching a total of 62.6 million metric tonnes. India's ferro chrome production in CY 2024 stood at 1.42 million tonnes, 6% lower than the previous year on account of raw material constraints and sluggish demand. The stainless steel market experienced noticeable weakness towards the end of the year on account of macroeconomic factors, resulting in downward pressure on ferro chrome prices. Moreover, chrome ore availability was limited which led to production cutbacks primarily by those ferro chrome producers reliant on bought out ore or conversion contracts. Ferro Chrome prices were at their lowest in recent times during the first quarter of CY 2025 and have gradually recovered since bolstered by high chrome ore prices and revival in demand. Rising stainless steel production given the low per capita consumption, urbanisation, and government initiatives to boost the manufacturing sector along with a large outlay on infrastructure are some of the factors propelling the demand for ferro chrome in India.

The manganese ore market is also on an upward trajectory, with its growth closely tied to the steel industry and a rapidly emerging sector: batteries. The market is projected to grow at a healthy compound annual growth rate (CAGR) in the coming years. The global iron ore market is expected to show steady growth in the coming years, driven primarily by strong demand from the construction and industrial sectors in Asia. However, the market is also characterized by significant volatility due to a complex interplay of factors.

The above data are compiled from the below sources:

b) Opportunities and ThreatsOpportunities

Construction and Urbanization: Rapid urbanization and infrastructure development, particularly in Asia-Pacific nations like China and India, are the most significant drivers of iron ore demand. These projects require vast amounts of steel, the primary end-product of iron ore.

Industrialization: The expansion of manufacturing industries and the increased need for machinery, equipment, and vehicles, which are predominantly made of steel, are also fueling the demand.

Demand for High-Grade Ore: There is a rising demand for high-grade iron ore and direct-reduction (DR) pellets. This is linked to the global push for decarbonization and the growth of "green steel" production, which requires higher-quality inputs to reduce carbon emissions.

Steel Production: The primary and most significant use of manganese is as an essential alloy in steel production. Manganese enhances the strength, hardness, and durability of steel, and the continued growth of the construction, automotive, and other industrial sectors will ensure a steady demand.

Electric Vehicles (EVs) and Batteries: This is a rapidly growing area of demand for manganese. Manganese-based cathodes are increasingly being used in lithium-ion batteries for EVs. As the world transitions to cleaner energy and the adoption of EVs accelerates, the demand for high-purity manganese for battery applications is expected to rise significantly.

Infrastructure Development: Similar to iron ore, global infrastructure projects, especially in emerging economies, are a major driver of demand for manganese as they rely on steel for construction.

Threats

Geopolitical Tensions and Supply Chains: The iron ore market is heavily concentrated in a few key producing countries, such as Australia and Brazil. This creates supply chain vulnerabilities and makes the market susceptible to geopolitical tensions, trade disputes, and policy shifts.

Price Volatility: Iron ore prices are known for their volatility. They are influenced by a range of factors, including supply and demand dynamics, shifts in currency exchange rates (especially the U.S. dollar), and shipping costs.

Environmental Regulations: Stricter environmental regulations and the global focus on reducing carbon emissions are influencing steel production processes, which in turn affects the demand for different grades of iron ore.

Oversupply and Price Fluctuations: The manganese market can face oversupply issues, which can put downward pressure on prices. For example, the return of major producers to full capacity after disruptions can lead to a glut in the market.

Dominance of Asia-Pacific: The Asia-Pacific region, led by China and India, dominates both the production and consumption of manganese. This concentration can create market imbalances and make it susceptible to regional economic and policy changes.

Environmental Concerns: As with other mining operations, there is an increasing focus on sustainable and environmentally friendly practices in the manganese mining industry. Companies are investing in new technologies to minimize their ecological footprint.

c) Segment Wise And Product Wise Performance

The Company's gross revenues in the F.Y 2024-25 was at ₹ 2072.82 Crores as against ₹ 1,898.85 Crores in the F.Y 2023-24. Further, during the year under review the Company has reported Profit before taxes at ₹ 7.23 Crores as against loss of ₹ 54.81 in the previous financial year.

The company is engaged primarily in the business of trading in Ferro & Non Ferro Alloys, Metals, Minerals & allied products. Hence, there are no separately reportable segments.

d) Risks And Concerns

The global iron ore market, while driven by long-term growth trends, is subject to significant risks and concerns that can lead to high volatility and unpredictable price swings.

Reliance on China's Economic Health: The Chinese steel industry is the single largest consumer of iron ore globally. As a result, the market is highly sensitive to China's economic performance, particularly in the property and infrastructure sectors. Any slowdown, shift in government policy, or temporary disruption (such as construction halts for special events) can have an immediate and significant impact on iron ore prices.

Geopolitical and Supply Chain Risks: Iron ore production is highly concentrated in Australia and Brazil. This creates a "supply chain vulnerability" where disruptions from trade disputes, political instability, or even natural disasters in these countries can severely affect the global supply and cause price spikes. The market's reliance on these few producers makes it inherently less resilient.

Environmental Regulations and Decarbonization: The steel industry is a major source of global carbon emissions. As countries and companies commit to decarbonization, there is a growing push for "green steel" production. This shifts demand towards higher-grade iron ore and alternative production methods like hydrogen-based direct reduced iron (DRI), which can fundamentally change the market landscape and create a risk of "stranded assets" for producers of lower-grade ore.

Price Volatility and Speculation: Iron ore is a heavily traded commodity, and its prices are subject to speculation. This can lead to irrational price movements that are not always tied to fundamental supply and demand, making it difficult for producers and consumers to manage risk.

The manganese market, while sharing some of the same risks as iron ore, has its own unique set of concerns, particularly given the emerging importance of battery-grade manganese.

Supply Chain Vulnerabilities: A significant portion of the world's manganese reserves are in a few countries, such as South Africa, Australia, and Gabon. Similar to iron ore, this geographic concentration makes the supply chain vulnerable to political instability, labor strikes, and logistical issues. Weather events, like cyclones, have also been shown to cause significant disruptions to key export operations.

Declining Ore Grades and Rising Costs: Many major manganese mines are facing a consistent decline in the quality of the ore they can extract. This means more energy and resources are required to process the ore to the desired standard, leading to higher operational costs and lower profit margins for producers.

The Balancing Act of Steel vs. Battery Demand: The vast majority of manganese is still used for steel production. However, demand for high-purity manganese for the growing electric vehicle (EV) battery market is a key growth driver. A major risk is that the supply of high-purity manganese cannot keep up with this demand, or that the market overcorrects and leads to oversupply, causing price fluctuations.

Environmental and Social Governance (ESG) Risks: The manganese mining industry faces increasing scrutiny over its environmental and social practices. Concerns about deforestation, water contamination, and labor practices can lead to stricter regulations, higher compliance costs, and opposition from local communities, all of which can disrupt production and increase costs.

Oversupply and Price Pressures: The market can experience periods of oversupply, often from the re-emergence of key producers after a disruption or from a slowdown in downstream demand (especially in China's steel sector). This can lead to bearish market sentiment and significant downward pressure on prices, impacting the profitability of mining operations.

Independent Auditors' Report

To
The Members of Oswal Minerals Limited
Report on the Audit of the Financial Statements

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Oswal Minerals Limited ("the Company") which comprise the Balance Sheet as at March 31, 2025, the Statement of Profit and Loss (including other comprehensive income), the Statement of Changes in Equity and the Statement of Cash Flows for the year then ended, and a summary of the significant accounting policies and other explanatory information (hereinafter referred to as "the financial statements").

In our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the aforesaid financial statements give the information required by the Companies Act, 2013 (the "Act") in the manner so required and give a true and fair view in conformity with Indian Accounting Standards prescribed under section 133 of the Act read with the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015, as amended ("Ind AS") and other accounting principles generally accepted in India, of the state of affairs of the company as at March 31, 2025, the profit, total comprehensive income, changes in equity and its cash flows for the year ended on that date.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing ("SAs") specified under section 143(10) of the Act. Our responsibilities under those Standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the company in accordance with the Code of Ethics issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India ("ICAI") together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements under the provisions of the Act and the rules made there under, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the ICAI's Code of Ethics. We believe that the audit evidence obtained by us is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the financial statements.

Emphasis of Matter

We draw attention to Note 29.10 to the financial statements which describes the closure of the Company's branch located at Hyderabad during the year. Our opinion is not modified in respect of this matter.

Key Audit Matters

"We have determined that there are no key audit matters to communicate in our report."

Responsibilities of Management and Board of Directors for the Financial Statements

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the matters stated in section 134(5) of the Act with respect to preparation of these financial statements that give a true and fair view of the financial position, financial performance, including other comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows of the company in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in India, including Ind AS specified under section 133 of the act. This responsibility also includes maintenance of the adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding the assets of the company and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the financial statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, Management and Board of Directors are responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless Board of Directors either intends to liquidate the company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Company's Board of Directors are also responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken based on these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal controls.

- Obtain an understanding of internal financial controls relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under section 143(3)(i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the Company has adequate internal financial controls with reference to the Financial Statements in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

Materiality is the magnitude of misstatements in the financial statements that, individually or in aggregate, makes it probable that the economic decisions of a reasonably knowledgeable user of the financial statements may be influenced. We consider quantitative materiality and qualitative factors in (i) planning the scope of our audit work and in evaluating the results of our work; and (ii) to evaluate the effect of any identified misstatements in the financial statements.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal controls that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Annexure - A to the Independent Auditor's Report

(Referred to in paragraph 1 (f) under 'Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements' section of our report to the Board of Directors and Management of Oswal Minerals Limited of even date)

Report on the Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act")

We have audited the internal financial controls with reference to Financial Statements of Oswal Minerals Limited ("the Company") as of March 31, 2025 in conjunction with our audit of the Financial Statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management's and Board of Directors' Responsibilities for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management and Board of Directors are responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls with reference to Financial Statements based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (the "ICAI"). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Act.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls with reference to Financial Statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") issued by the ICAI and the Standards on Auditing prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Act, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls with reference to financial statements. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls with reference to the Financial Statements was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls with reference to the Financial Statements and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls with reference to the Financial Statements included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls with reference to the Financial Statements, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls with reference to Financial Statements.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls with reference to Financial Reporting

A company's internal financial control with reference to the Financial Statements is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control with reference to Financial Statements includes those policies and procedures that:

- (1) Pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company;
- (2) Provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and
- (3) Provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls with reference to Financial Statements

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls with reference to the Financial Statements to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control with reference to financial statements may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

In our opinion, to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls with reference to Financial Statements and such internal financial controls with reference to Financial Statements were operating effectively as at March 31, 2025, based on the criteria for internal financial control with reference to Financial Statements established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the ICAI.

The financial statements have been prepared on a historical cost convention and on an accrual basis, except for rental deposit, which has been measured at present value as required by the relevant Ind AS.

2.2 Use of Estimates

The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with Ind AS requires the management to make estimates, assumptions and judgement. The estimates and judgements relating to the Financial Statements are made on a prudent basis, so as to reflect in a true and fair manner, the form and substance of transactions and reasonably present the Company's state of affairs, profits and cash flows for the year ended March 31, 2025.

Estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on a periodic basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognized in the period in which the estimates are revised and in any future periods affected.

2.3 Property, Plant and Equipment

a) Recognition and measurement: Property, Plant and Equipment are measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses, if any. Cost includes expenditures directly attributable to the acquisition of the asset.

b) Depreciation: The Company depreciates property, plant and equipment over the estimated useful life on WDV from the date the assets are ready for intended use. The estimated useful lives of assets for the current and comparative period of significant items of property, plant and equipment are as per years specified in Scheduled-II of Companies Act, 2013.

(c) Depreciation methods, useful lives and residual values are reviewed at each reporting date.

(d) Capital work-in-progress is stated at cost, net of impairment loss, if any. The cost of self-constructed assets includes the cost of materials, direct labour, and any other costs directly attributable to bringing the assets to a working condition and location for their intended use, the initial estimate of dismantling and removing the items and restoring the site on which they are located.

2.4 Intangible Assets

Intangible assets are stated at cost less accumulated amortization and impairment. Intangible assets are amortized over their respective estimated useful lives on a straight-line basis, from the date that they are available for use. The estimated useful life of an identifiable intangible asset is based on a number of factors including the effects of obsolescence, demand, competition and other economic factors (such as the stability of the industry and known technological advances) and the level of maintenance expenditures required to obtain the expected future cash flows from the asset.

2.5 Impairment of Assets

The carrying values of assets or cash generating units at each Balance Sheet date are reviewed for impairment. If any indication of impairment exists, the recoverable amount of such assets is estimated and impairment is recognised, if the carrying amount of these assets exceeds their recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the greater of the net selling price and their value in use. Value in use is arrived at by discounting the future cash flows to their present value based on an appropriate discount factor. When there is indication that an impairment loss recognised for an asset in earlier accounting periods no longer exists or may have decreased, such reversal of impairment loss is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss, except in case of revalued assets.

2.6 Employee Benefits

Employee benefits in the form of Provident Fund, and Employees State Insurance are defined contribution plans. The Gratuity liability is defined benefit plans. The cost of providing benefits under the defined benefit plans is determined using the projected unit credit method, with actuarial valuations being carried out at the end of each annual reporting period.

Remeasurements of net defined benefit liability are charged or credited to other comprehensive income.

2.7 Provisions

Provisions are recognized when the Company has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event, it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation, and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation.

B. Financial risk management

The Company has exposure to the following risks arising from financial instruments:

- (a) Credit risk ;
- (b) Liquidity risk ; and
- (c) Market risk

Notes forming part of the financial statements for the year ended 31st March, 2025
Risk management framework

The Company's board of directors has overall responsibility for the establishment and oversight of the Company's risk management framework. The board of directors along with their senior management has established the processes, which ensures that executive management controls risks through the mechanism of properly defined framework. The Company's risk management policies are established to identify and analyse the risks faced by the Company, to set appropriate risks limits and controls, to monitor risks and adherence to limits. Risk management policies are reviewed regularly to reflect changes in market conditions and the Company's activities. The Company, through its training and management standards and procedures, aims to maintain a disciplined and constructive control environment in which all employees understand their roles and obligations.

(a) Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk of financial loss to the Company if a customer or counterparty to a financial instrument fails to meet its contractual obligations, and arises principally from the Company's receivables from customers.

(i) Trade receivables

The Company extends credit to customers in the normal course of business. Outstanding customer receivables are regularly monitored. The Company has also taken advances from its customers, which mitigate the credit risk to an extent. An impairment analysis is performed at each reporting date on an individual customer basis for major customers. Refer note no.7 for detailed aging of trade receivables.

The Company believes that the unimpaired amounts that are past due by more than 180 days are still collectible in full, based on historical payment behaviour and extensive analysis of customer credit risk.

(ii) Deposits with banks and other financial instruments

The Company considers factors such as track record, market reputation and service standards to select the banks with which balances and deposits are maintained. Generally, the balances are maintained with the banks with which the Company has also availed borrowings. The Company does not maintain significant cash balances other than those required for its day to day operations.

(b) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company may not be able to meet its present and future cash and collateral obligations without incurring unacceptable losses. The Company's objective is to maintain a balance between continuity of funding and flexibility through the use of bank overdrafts, letters of credit and working capital limits. The Company ensures that it has sufficient cash to meet operational needs while maintaining sufficient margin on its undrawn fund based borrowing facilities at all times.

(c) Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows of a financial asset will fluctuate because of changes in market prices, including the effects of changes in foreign currency exchange rates and interest rates.

(i) Currency risk

Foreign currency risk is the risk that fair value of future cash flows of an exposure will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates. The Company's exposure to the risk of changes in foreign exchange rates relates primarily to the Company's operating activities. The Company has foreign currency trade payables and receivables and is therefore, exposed to a foreign exchange risk. For mitigating exposure to foreign exchange risk, the Company adopts a policy of natural hedging based on the risk perception of the management.

(ii) Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows of an exposure will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. The Company's exposure to the risk of changes in market interest rates relates primarily to the Company's short-term debt obligations with floating interest rates. Any changes in the interest rates environment may impact future cost of borrowings. As the Company does not have exposure to any floating interest bearing assets, or any significant long-term fixed-interest bearing assets, its interest income and related cash inflows are not affected by changes in market interest rates. Moreover, the short-term borrowings of the Company do not have a significant fair value or cash flow interest rate risk due to their short tenure.

(vii) Description of Risk Exposures

Valuations are based on certain assumptions, which are dynamic in nature and vary over time. As such Company is exposed to various risks as follow:

- (a) Interest risk: The present value of the defined benefit plan liability (denominated in Indian Rupee) is calculated using a discount rate which is determined by reference to market yields at the end of the reporting period on government bonds.
- (b) Longevity risk: The present value of the defined benefit plan liability is calculated by reference to the best estimate of the mortality of plan participants both during and after their employment. An increase in the life expectancy of the plan participants will increase the plan's liability.
- (c) Salary Risk: The present value of the defined benefit plan liability is calculated by reference to the future salaries of plan participants. As such, an increase in the salary of the plan participants will increase the plan's liability.
